Earl Douglas Cited Similar Conditions In Memorial Talk

The weather was ideal on Memorial day, and services were well attended. A goodly crowd of children from the public school and St. Mary's parochial school, with their teachers, were present.

Commander Robert Liess presided. The roll call was read by Fred Hentsch. The school children sang several songs under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Cappel, principal.

Earl C. Douglas, instructor at the Joliet Junior college delivered a timely address. He mentioned that he never was so concerned about the welfare of our country as now. This seems to hold true to most citizens. In comparing events of the present time he told how during the Revolutionary war, people generally found fault with General Washington, thinking he should be winning more victories etc. Mr. Douglas cited the small army that Washington had, far surpassed in numbers by the British army, and how Washington used strategy to outwit the British army. As we all know, he won the victory for our country. Today General Washington is one of our best loved and respected countrymen.

The speaker also cited instances similar with Abraham Lincoln, who was found fault with by citizens in his time, and who today is also one of our best loved countrymen.

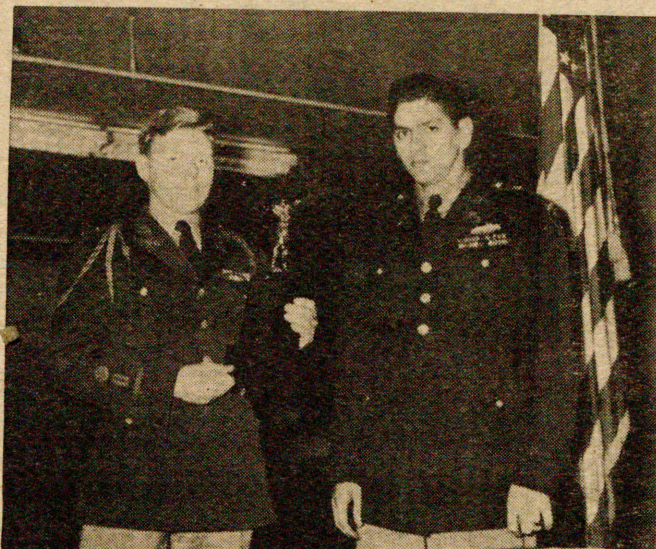

The newly formed drum and bugle corp of the VFW really made the parade and everyone was appreciative of them. The line of march went to the Pioneer Memorial cemetery and then to the veterans plot in St. John's cemetery where the members of the William Martin Post VFW, carried out their ritual in remembering the deceased.

MOKENA FIRE DEPT. PUT OUT ROCKET BLAZE

Quite some excitement was centered in Mokena Tuesday afternoon about 4:30 when the second unit of the Rock Island Rocket engine caught on fire.

As the train went through Mokena the station agent, Whitney Carter, and Mokena people noticed fire burning briskly in the cab of the second booster engine. Mr. Carter at once had the signal thrown against the train bringing it to a stop about a quarter of a mile west of the village.

The fire was so intense it broke out the frame work of the cabin. The train crew at once applied their fire extinguishers and Mr. Carter called the Mokena fire department, who used their chemical fire fighting equipment and had it extinguished in a short time.

It is not known what caused the fire, some state it was in the wiring and others in the pump. The train remained at Mokena until a new engine arrived from Chicago to replace the two on the Rocket when it left Chicago, its starting point.

Cook Co. Forest Preserve District's April Report

(CNS)—Cook county's Forest Preserve district ended the month of April in a generally better position, money-wise, than it began the month, a report by District Comptroller L. W. Maclean indicated this week.

On April 1 the cash balance in the district's corporate fund was $241,034.52. On April 30 the figure was $476,820.87. Between those dates $500,000 in 1951 tax anticipation warrants were sold and other receipts brought the forest preserve's total corporate revenue for the month to $685,963.52.

Golf course fees accounted for a small but tidy amount of the month's receipts: at Edgebrook $915; Indian Boundary, $1,500; Northwestern, $715; Pipe O'Peace, $1,010; and Burnham Woods, $545. Miscellaneous forest preserve fines and refunds brought in $38.73.

Total corporate salaries and wages for the month were $103,193.80. Largest figure in that list was $41,394 paid for maintenance department labor. Smallest department payroll was the $2,405 pay-out for salaries and wages in the Conservation office.

What is termed "impersonal service" in Maclean's report cost the district $19,244 during April. Largest segment of that was $10,893.57 for transportation. Supplies, materials and parts cost $22,664.23. Total corporate disbursements were $450,177.17.

On April 1 the district's construction and development fund had a $97,684.99 deficit. The deficit on April 30 was $120,622.04. Cash balance of the bond and interest fund on April 1 was $1,054,183.42. By the end of the month this had grown to $1,245,062.56. $10,565.53 in taxes was received during April by the annuity and benefit fund which still remained at the month's end. There was also $892,457.47 in the real estate acquisition fund, consisting mostly of revenues from the sale of bonds.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Vaughn and children are vacationing in Nashville, Tenn. with his father Dave Vaughn and with her brother Joe Arnold at Laurenceville.

Electricity Use At New High

Residential and farm customers of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois set new high records in the use of electricity for the year ending April 30, 1951, it was reported today by Britton I. Budd, president of the utility.

For the first time in the history of the company, residential users averaged 2,000 kilowatt hours for the year, a 100% increase over a ten-year period. In the year ending April, 1941, the average residential use was just under 1,000 kilowatt hours.

In the year ending last month, the company's farm customers used an average of 4,852 kilowatt hours, an increase of 200% over the 1,600 kilowatt hour average of ten years ago.

The unprecedented increase in farm use of electricity was due in large measure, Budd said, to the company's hard-hitting farm electrification program begun over 25 years ago and completed since World War II. As a result of this program, designed to save time and labor and improve living conditions, all of the 46,258 farms in the company's 11,000 square miles of service area now have electricity available to them from company lines.

Budd said the average residential and farm electric use in northern Illinois was substantially more than the national average which now stands at 1,800 kilowatt hours for residence and 2,950 kilowatt hours for farms.

Every home in suburban Cook County is to be supplied with the placard carrying the official civil defense air raid instructions, it was announced today by the Cook County Civil Defense organization.

Joseph A. Downey, county civil defense director, said that 225,000 copies had been obtained from the government printing office and would be distributed to homes through the local civil defense organizations. Such organizations, he said, are now active in all of the 101 incorporated suburbs and the 30 townships in the county.

The placard consists of air raid instructions in large type intended for displaying on a wall and also includes eight pocket size cards so that each member of the family may carry one.

The cards already have been posted in all county institutions, school houses and other public buildings, Downey said.

Short Course In Conservation Of Natural Resources

A three-week course in the Conservation of Natural Resources is being offered this year between June 11 and 29 at the Joliet Junior college. Three hours credit will be given for the course. The course is suited to Will County teachers, Junior College students and any other interested adults.

William L. Hughes of Joliet Junior College will have charge of the course. Arrangements are being made for specialists from the Soil Conservation Service, Extension Service, Experiment Station, and State Department of Forestry and Conservation to take part in the course.

Field trips will be made out over the county to study soils and the way they are being abused or conserved. Forests and new tree planting areas will be visited. Wildlife and its relationship to agriculture will be discussed.

Water problems and the conservation of our mineral resources such as coal, oil and iron will also be included in the subject matter. Visual aids such as films and slides will be used along with class discussions and field demonstrations.

The Will County Soil Conservation District directors recommend the course very highly for anyone interested in the welfare of the soil in Will County. They point out that the course has met with a great deal of favor from all who have taken it in the past. The Soil Conservation District board thinks that it is a very practical way for teachers and others to become more familiar with the natural resources of Will County.

The field trips will include stops at the farms of some Soil Conservation District cooperators who will tell the class how they are farming to save their soil and increase their farm's production.

Mr. Clarence Stallman, who is in charge of the Joliet Junior College summer program, is accepting the enrollment at the Joliet Township High School office. Louis F. Bottino, county superintendent of schools, is announcing the course to all school superintendents, principals and teachers.

Sittin' Fishin'

IN Canada's vast area of 3,852,800 square miles the fisherman is afforded the widest choice—not only of territory but also of fish and methods of catching them. Here, a Cleveland angler sits on a chair made of tree limbs in the shallows of the Petawawa River in Algonquin Park, Ont., and leisurely casts upstream.

The chair fisherman nets his speckled trout with the greatest of ease. Canadian speckled trout are the jewels among game fish. They are found not only in Algonquin Park but in most other parts of Canada. In both the lakes and rivers of northern Quebec and Ontario, the speckled trout grow to great size, six pounders not being uncommon.

Out of Ruins

Lesson for June 3, 1951

A GERMAN who came through World War II recently said: "At present there is no country in the world where a man can live more like a man than in Germany. This is because yesterday has been reduced to ruins and rubbish. . . . We can thank God that he has blessed us with ruins more than he has others."

This may sound shocking, but it sounds not unlike the Bible. There were Jews in ancient times who lived to thank God for the ruins of Jerusalem.

Dr. Foreman

At Last They Believed

If you had asked a resident of that city, at the hour when the enemy army was burning his beloved home, if God's hand was in the catastrophe, most likely he would have said, "No, not by any means. This is Nebuchadnezzar's work, or the devil's—certainly not God's."

Consider what good came out of it. For one thing, it taught the Jews that God is really a God of justice, after all. The nation that sinneth, it shall die; the nation that takes the sword shall perish by the sword. The prophets had been trying to tell them that for many a long year; but no attention had been paid.

The sins the prophets had said God would surely punish, went on and on, and there seemed to be no reckoning and no punishment. The little nation was deluded into thinking it could get by with anything for as long as they pleased. But after the crash of 586 B.C., they all knew the prophets had been telling the truth.

Yesterday Is Dead

FOR another thing, the exile cured the Jews, for a long time, of trying to be a political nation like other nations. God had called them to another kind of existence. So long as they had been an independent nation they had kept fooling around with politics, armies, international intrigue. After all that had been swept into Nebuchadnezzar's dustbin, the people's hearts turned more and more to God and his laws.

Another way in which that city-wide ruin was a blessing was that it "killed yesterday." Before the fatal year 586, the Hebrew kings and people had more or less looked backward. Every king wanted to be a great conqueror like David, a wealthy potentate like Solomon. But they never would look the cold fact in the face, that those days were gone forever.

But when the exiles came back to rebuild the ruins, the younger ones at least looked forward. Yesterday was dead; they built now for tomorrow.

Blessed With Ruins

RUINS can be a blessing in more ways than one. So Chicago and San Francisco and Baltimore were better cities after their big fires; Louisville improved after its great flood; the "New South" of today is blessed as the Old South, for all its glamor, could not have been.

Sometimes a man who has been depending on anything but God for hope and happiness—on his money, on his friends, on his health, on his position—finds these things swept out from under him, and then at last comes back to God.

After a man's childhood faith has been shattered by manhood's disillusionments, it has often come to pass that out of the ruins of the childish beliefs he rears a tower of faith far stronger than anything he has lost.

Let's Not Make Ruins

THIS does not mean, of course, that we ought ever to go out and deliberately make ruins. The best way to improve other nations is not to drop bombs on them; the best way to be improved ourselves is not to act in such ways as to tempt other nations to drop bombs on us.

The best way to build a better faith is not to scrap all the faith we have. The best way to find God is not to go out and find him in a fox-hole. The blessings of ruins are not the best God has; but sometimes they are what it takes to bring a man to his senses.

And if the crash does come, and the towers fall, and life lies in rubble around us, we must remember what the Hebrews learned: that even in the ruins we may, better than ever, come to know the living God.

Orange and Semi-Sweet Chocolate Make Novel Flavor Combination

Newest of dessert treats combine the flavors of fresh orange and semi-sweet chocolate. A delightful way to enjoy this flavor harmony is in a home-made orange cake that can be iced with a delicious chocolate frosting made with semi-sweet chocolate morsels, or the cake can be topped with ice cream and sauced with chocolate. Also included is a simple Chocolate Duet recipe that makes either frosting or sauce, depending on the amount of milk added.

Orange Cake

3 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1/4 cup orange marmalade
2 tablespoons grated orange rind
1 cup orange juice
Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, blending together until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in marmalade and orange rind. Add flour alternately with orange juice, mixing well, ending with flour. Turn batter into well greased pan (10"x15"x3"). Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 30 minutes. Cut cake into squares, top with slice of ice cream, and serve with chocolate sauce, or frost cake with chocolate frosting. If desired, top with whole or chopped nuts. YIELD: 24 squares.

Chocolate Duet

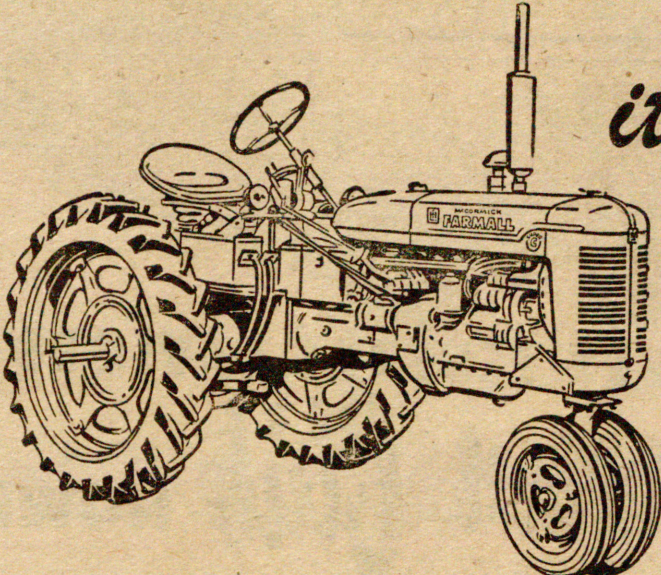

(Frosting or Sauce)

1 package semi-sweet chocolate
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
3 to 4 tablespoons hot milk, for frosting
1/2 cup hot milk, for sauce
1 teaspoon vanilla
In top of double boiler put semi-sweet chocolate and butter. Heat until melted and mix until smooth. Remove from heat. For frosting add milk and sugar alternately, adding enough milk to make a spreadable consistency. Stir in vanilla. For sauce, increase milk to 1/2 cup. YIELD: Frosting for top of 10x15 inch cake, or 1 1/2 cups chocolate sauce.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

VANGUARD OF TOMORROW

BOYS AND GIRLS WEEK—APRIL 30—MAY 7

THESE ARE THE COUNTRY'S TWO MOST IMPORTANT PEOPLE.

THEIR HEALTH, WELFARE, CHARACTER, AND EDUCATION ARE A MAJOR CONCERN OF THE AMERICAN FAMILY. TO ASSURE THESE ADVANTAGES AND TO PROVIDE FOR THEIR FUTURE OPPORTUNITIES, WE INSURE OUR LIVES AND SAVE OUR MONEY.

THAT THEY MAY BE FREE MEN AND WOMEN IN A DEMOCRATIC COUNTRY, WE VOTE AND WORK AND, IF NEED BE, FIGHT TO MAINTAIN THAT KIND OF NATION.

FOR THESE TWO ARE THE FUTURE—THE HOPE AND PROMISE OF A BETTER, BRAVER AND MORE STABLE WORLD.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Just "Can't Get Over"
Easy's Fence

Few years ago, Easy Roberts took a lot of kidding when he planted that hedge of Multiflora roses — along his property line. Folks said he was getting pretty high-falutin'.

But today plenty of people who laughed at the idea slow down when they drive by Easy's place — just to look at those roses. Most beautiful sight you ever saw.

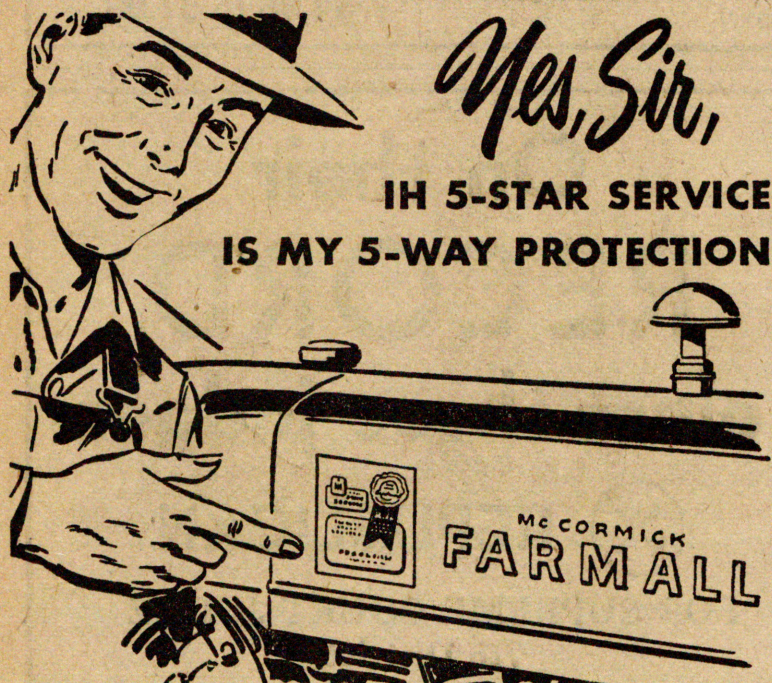

Practical, too! The hedge is a good four foot high now, and at least five foot thick—even a shoat couldn't get through that prickly mass of shrubbery. Best of all, it cost less than ordinary fencing. (Might be well worth your while looking into.)

From where I sit, there's no sense in looking down on something just because it's different from what we like. For instance, some people think ice-cold lemonade is the best "cooler-offer" on a hot day. Some of us would rather have a glass of beer. The important thing is not to "hedge ourselves in" against other people's ideas and preferences.

The fondest dream
Of a farm boy's soul
Is the jeweled thought
Of a distant goal;
And he swiftly yields
To the city's claim:
The chance for fortune,
The promise of fame...

He uproots himself

New Black Background For Driver Licenses

Springfield, Ill.,—Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett has announced a change, effective immediately, in the processing of state driver licenses. In the future data on the license will be in white on a black background. At present, the wording appears in black on a white card.

The change, Mr. Barrett said, was made for purposes of efficiency and to lessen the opportunity for fraudulent use of licenses.

enses. The new process will eliminate a complete work operation and speed up issuance of licenses.

The black on white card has in the past, according to law enforcement officers, made it easy for minors to change the data to advance their age and many criminals found it convenient for the purpose of concealing their identity. A white on a black card is expected to make it almost impossible to alter the new license.

On their RECORD elect these judges

REPUBLICAN
FOR SUPREME COURT JUDGE
7th District

JULIUS H. MINER

Since his admission to the Illinois bar in 1917, Judge Miner has served as a master in chancery; a criminal court justice; has taught law subjects at Northwestern University and other schools; has written three textbooks; has participated in numerous community drives; and now, at the conclusion of his second term as judge of the circuit court of Cook County, has been unanimously endorsed by the Cook County Bar Association as a candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court. It is firmly believed his ability and experience as a judge will help to strengthen the Illinois courts.

FOR CIRCUIT JUDGES
12th Judicial Circuit

JAMES V. BARTLEY

Judge Bartley is a past president of the Board of Governors of the Illinois Circuit and Supreme Judges Association and president of the Illinois State Bar Committee to Recommend Changes in Rules in the Civil Practice Act. He is one of four generations to practice law in the Bartley family and has won great respect during his two terms as circuit judge, particularly in regard to the condition in which he found the court when he assumed office and the remarkable manner in which he cleared both the criminal and civil calendars within a year's time. His record speaks for itself and he should definitely be re-elected.

C. D. HENRY

Judge C. D. Henry, of Kankakee, has all the qualities of training, experience and temperament so important to the position of judge on the circuit bench. In an office that has personal contact with the life of the ordinary citizen in countless ways, he has proven himself unusually qualified and capable. He is an able lawyer and a man who does many things as a public-spirited citizen in a quiet and modest way. He has the affinity for judiciary matters that the position of circuit judge demands and should certainly be re-elected to that office.

ROSCOE C. SOUTH

The twelve years Judge South has given to the people of the Twelfth Judicial District have thoroughly justified the faith placed in him when he was first elected to the circuit bench. He has worked tirelessly for the America he loves and has kept constantly before him his conviction that, "To keep our liberty and our freedom, the Constitution of the United States must be preserved." He has worked closely with Judge Bartley and Judge Henry to make the 12th Judicial Circuit one of which to be proud. Keep Judge South on the bench by your vote on June 4.

Harvey Fed. Savings Inaugurate New Vacation Club

"Funds for Fun" is the theme of Harvey Federal Savings and Loan Association's current campaign for a new savings plan.

"Too many people deny themselves one of the important pleasures of life because of having failed to think about money for a vacation as a necessity instead of a luxury," states John Bardwick, Jr., president of Harvey Federal Savings. "So," he continues, "we have followed the formula of setting aside a special purpose savings in the form of Harvey Federal Savings new 'Vacation Club.' All people need is the incentive; we provide the opportunity through the Vacation club plan."

Although the idea of special purpose savings clubs are now new, Harvey Federal Savings "Vacation Club" is the first in this area. Last year, in December, 1950, Christmas club distribution of savings hit an all-time peak at Harvey Federal Savings when 1,060 members received approximately $88,198.00 or an average of $83.20 per saver. Vacation club memberships are accepted from $1.00 to $5.00 weekly and can be started at any time.

Measure the windows as you would for screens, and use the height and half the width of this size for each shutter. Cut the stiles (A) to exact length and the rails (B) to proper size. Nail these pieces of 1 by 2-inch lumber together and lay the frame on a panel of Masonite 3/16" Tempered Presdwood. Trace the outline on the Presdwood and cut it to size.

Then fasten the frame to the panel with 3/4" nails and waterproof glue. Make a cardboard pattern of the cutout illustrated (or one of your choice). Trace the outlines on the Tempered Presdwood. Saw these out with a scroll saw and fasten them to the shutters with nails and waterproof glue.

Give both sides of the shutters two or three coats of a good quality outdoor type paint. Fasten the shutters to the house with screws.

To enlarge the drawings of the cutout, draw half-inch squares on paper or directly on the Tempered Presdwood. Then sketch the outline in the squares to correspond with the positions of lines in squares on the pattern.

Overlay cut-outs glued to panels

Temporarily Presdwood is glued and nailed around edges

Mr. Bettenhausen's last visit to his uncle was in 1946 when he was discharged from service. It is the purpose of the Bible study classes sponsored by the Fellowship of Christian Women, to help earnest inquirers and earnest Christians alike to have a better understanding and appreciation of the word of God, and help them to more fully realize its significance and sacredness.

The place of meeting is announced prior to each class, and the dates are the first and second Tuesdays of each month. All ladies who would like to attend are invited on June 5, at 1:15 p.m. to the home of Mrs. George Curtis 177th and Highland, Tinley Park. An Endless Battle—The struggle to resist demands of the Executive branch of the Federal government for more and more power is a battle with many fronts and many sectors. It is all too easy for the people and the Congress to relax their guard at a crucial point when attention is diverted by some spectacular engagement elsewhere along the line.

Public revulsion over dismissal of General MacArthur brought a flood of letters demanding either impeachment of the President or a sharp curtailment of his powers. Yet on the heels of these demands for curbing the President, a proposal has been introduced in Congress to extend and increase a set of totally unprecedented Executive powers. The Spence-Maybank Bills (Defense Production) now before the Congress call for giving the President POWER TO LICENSE ANY PERSON OR PERSONS SUBJECT TO ANY PRICE REGULATION OR ORDER ISSUED UNDER THE ACT. This license would be necessary "condition of selling or delivering any material or service" which is subject to price control. Think of the new area of bureaucratic operation and harassment, red-tape and costly litigation, which would be opened by such a law—to say nothing of the new opportunities for political exploitation, campaign solicitations, shake-downs, and graft opened to an Administration which has proved itself expert in this field! And think of the vast opening this would provide for new excursions into greater Executive power and Federal regimentation! Truly, the battle against the demands of the Executive for more and more power is a battle with many fronts and sectors.

The Defense Production Bills. Two years ago the writer discussed in two April issues of his Weekly News Letter the Economic Stability Act of 1949. These articles are as applicable today as they were then, since these powers will be extended and increased under the Defense Production Bills. They are offered again for your consideration. The writer voted against granting these powers two years ago, and he expects to vote against any extension or increase of these Presidential powers now.

April 4, 1949—"H. R. 2756, The Economic Stability Act of 1949, Leon Kyserling's latest proposal, is in reality a blank check for the President to be used at his discretion, a blank check that places in his hands full control over our entire economic system, the power of life and death over any and every industry in America. Do economic conditions as they exist in America today warrant the granting of these powers by the Congress to the President? Will production be increased if the government takes over and operates American production facilities? What has been England's experience under government ownership and operation of her coal mines, her railroads? Kyserling's latest proposal is a dangerous one, a threat to our American way of life."

April 11, 1949—"In discussing President Truman's Economic Stability Act of 1949, Frank R. Kent Says: 'If enacted, it would give the President a control over private business never before seriously suggested in a time of peace. Under it he could fix prices and wages, regulate profits, put into effect priorities and allocations and use Government money to expand production. It is, in fact, the most thorough-going control-over-industry proposal ever advanced. With the power conferred on the President therein, private ownership of industry would exist only to the degree the Government chose to let it exist. It is not surprising that businessmen who have grasped the true purpose of the bill should be shocked. It is not surprising that those who have read it understandingly should be baffled and bewildered as to the real character of this administration's Economic Advisers.'"

ing Pearce, now state's attorney for Will county, and Thomas A. Burns of Kankakee.

The records of the three present judges on the circuit is good and they have given fair and good consistent service.

Judge Julius H. Miner

In speaking of Judge Julius H. Miner, who is the candidate for Justice of the Illinois Supreme Court on the Republican ticket, he is being recommended by the Chicago Bar association as a distinguished judge.

The courts of justice belong to the people, and in the character and ability of the judges whom they elect to preserve their constitutional rights and safeguard their laws, there are no substitutes for learning, diligence, integrity and experience. Seldom combined to such a high degree in one man, these all are the proven attributes of Judge Julius H. Miner, Republican Candidate for Justice of the Illinois Supreme Court from the Seventh District.

From his first years in a very humble home on Chicago's West Side 53 years ago, Judge Miner's life forms an inspiring American story of success won against great obstacles by intelligence and determination. Behind his rise to recognition by the public and his colleagues as a distinguished lawyer and jurist, lies a hard struggle for education and admission to the bar. The labor by day to help support a family and the hours of study at night to gain the first step up the ladder, instilled the youth with that devotion to effort which later won acclamation for the man as the hardest working judge on the bench.

Judge Miner's 27 years as a jurist can be regarded as the finest apprenticeship for the high office he seeks and in which his thorough experience would best qualify him to pass on the many important questions which come before the Supreme Court. As the youngest man ever to hold that office, he was appointed a master in chancery of the Circuit Court of Cook county in 1924 and served for sixteen years. Though ambitious for election to the bench, one of the highest lights in his career came when he declined a Democratic nomination to the Superior Court in 1939 because the Republican Party had its own slate of candidates. A year later, however, he was elected to the Circuit Court to fill a vacancy. He was re-elected in 1945 and has sat in both common law and chancery divisions. As further distinction, he was chosen by his colleagues as chief justice of the Circuit Court and of the Criminal Court.

Judge Miner's terms on the bench have been marked by intensive industry. He frequently volunteered for additional work to clear clogged dockets and constantly sought methods to improve administration of justice. Devotion to his own family and a love for children made him a champion of domestic life and juvenile welfare. From this grew his widely acclaimed plan for the 60-day cooling off period in the filing of divorce suits until the last chance for reconciliation had failed. Another sound reform he sponsored was the education of prospective jurors in the responsibility of their duties.

Resolved that Americans should set aside at least one day each year in which to bring patriotism and civic responsibility closer to their hearts, Judge Miner became the founder of public observation of Constitution Day. The first celebration in Chicago in 1934, which he financed and directed, brought a tremendous outpouring and since then the annual event has spread across the nation.

Judge Miner's distinguished judicial service and his position as a learned authority on the law have repeatedly won the warm commendation of members of the bar. In bar association polls of fitness and conduct he has stood close to the top.

When you read this, Memorial Day will be past. In celebrating this day, by honoring our wars dead, let us celebrate in reverence and sobriety, and pray to God he will spare us from future wars if it be His will.

Farm Commentator, heard Monday through Saturday, 6:15-6:45 a. m. on WMAQ, Chicago, 670 on your dial.

A FEW items of the right kind of equipment in your milk house can make the difference between producing high-quality milk and lesser grades. Washing the dairy utensils may take time, but it's very important and can't be neglected.

Here are some items which will save time and help you do the job right: Running hot and cold water, a stall cock, a stop-start switch on the vacuum pump, a table with a stainless steel perforated screen for a top, and preferably a table on wheels. You'll also need a cabinet for supplies, a can and utensil rack, and an electric milk cooler.

According to recent surveys, an outlay of the above equipment can cut your daily time in caring for milk utensils from 16 minutes to 10 minutes.

To make sure these utensils are used properly, here's a quick run-through of the routine that's considered the best for washing and sanitizing the milking equipment: Rinse the equipment in lukewarm water, about 100 degrees Fahrenheit. Then completely dismantle the milking machine. Soak the equipment for one-half hour in an alkaline solution at a temperature of 115 degrees. After soaking, each part should be brushed. Then the equipment should be stored, dry and unassembled until next milking time. The right time to reassemble and sanitize the equipment is right before the next milking.

Well, maybe it does sound like a lot of work, but you'll find that it pays big dividends when you take your milk to the collection station. It's quality that gets the price!

cause sorrow to come to some one else.

I am sorry I could not be with you on Memorial Day, because I was in Minnesota. My thoughts were with you. I know that the drums will add a touch to the parade. Now if we can get a bugle section worked up, we will have an organization that Mokena can be proud of. If not perhaps we CAN get a juvenile drum and bugle corp organized. Last year at Rock Island during VFW Department of Illinois Encampment I saw a juvenile corp that had been organized just two years take championship in their class.

We know now how to get things done, and without very much of a cash layout. We have the instructors right here in our organization. Give them the go ahead sign and your support, and they will do the rest. —Eino Sarello, publicity.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

There's a question as to how long a man can spend billions of other people's money without becoming dizzy. Around Washington it is wondered if William C. Foster, head of ECA which gives billions away under name of Marshall Plan has not reached that point.

Foster announces Western European industrial production is 40% more than 1938, export trade up 50%, farm crops up 10% more than 1938. In C. W. Harder other words, Europe on statistics, never had it so good. Yet more billions to give away are wanted.

Few days later, Foster announced that European cartels, or monopolies, are big stumbling block to average man being prosperous.

Assailing European trusts that curtail production, fix prices, Foster told a St. Louis audience, "Too many Europeans follow the practice of small production with high unit profits. Instead, management must become imbued with the idea of high production, lowering the costs of production, passing the benefits of lower costs to buyer and worker."

So after giving away billions of American taxes, in free goods, including a half billion in tobacco alone, Foster finds answer that Gen. Douglas MacArthur found without giving away a cent.

Japan has made great recovery stride, despite atom bomb. ©National Federation of Independent Business ings, despite no Marshall Plan gifts. But one of the first things MacArthur administration did was break up four big trusts that had controlled Japan.

That is probably one reason why MacArthur fell into disfavor in Washington where efforts are being made to extend monopolies in America.

England and France probably had other reasons for pressuring MacArthur dismissal, too. They wanted to keep goose laying golden eggs their way.

In this connection Foster either took bureaucratic license with facts or doesn't know what is going on when on first of month he announced Marshall Plan gifts to Britain were suspended as of January 1, 1951.

His $670,000 worth of press agents crossed him up beautifully here. They announced, as reported last week, that England has just been given $5,880,000 worth of copper, $2,500,000 worth of oil. Now it is announced another $600,000 worth of copper has been given them.

Senator John Sparkman's Small Business Committee, probing rubber situation is finding rubber allocation program which is driving out of business all but the very few Rubber Bigs, was issued at a meeting of which no record was made and nobody seems to know who attended, or what they said.

So committee has issued demand more rubber be given small firms until facts are known. Committee will check just announced Marshall Plan gift of $87,000 worth of rubber to French North Africa; $120,000 to Austria. Look for extraordinary facts to develop.
